INDIANS WIN

Show Class In Defeating Yellow Jackets 39-13 — Cooke Absent From the Lineup

In a game featured by the close guarding of the Indian five, William and Mary had little difficulty Saturday night in disposing of the Randolph-Macon quint by the score of 39-13. The contest was fast and hard fought. A large crowd witnessed the fracas.

The locals were without the services of Cooke, right forward and captain, who had been confined to the infirmary for two days previous to the game due to sickness. Peters, who took his place at right forward, acquitting himself well. Cooke witnessed the game from the sidelines, and it is hoped that he will be in condition to play against the Spiders there Saturday night.

The first half of the game was practically a repetition of the Richmond game. The five man defense of the locals held the Yellow Jacket forwards to a trio of field goals, while the local tossers were running up 21 points.

In the second half Coach Driver sent in his second squad and the game got a little rough toward the last. Coach Goff, of the visitors, also sent in a number of new men during the final period. The second half was similar to the first. The locals made 18 points while the visiting aggregation was scoring seven.

In the last two games of the Indians the opposing fives have each scored 13 points. The locals doubled the score on Dobson's proteges, and tripled the count against Goff's hopefuls. Tomorrow night's game will be the thirteenth game on the schedule this year.

LECTURES TOMORROW

Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, President Emeritus of William and Mary, who will deliver the fifth of the Marshall-Wythe Constitutional Lectures here Saturday. Dr. Tyler was president of the college from 1888 to 1919.

College of William and Mary under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship in the chapel Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of Dr. Tyler's lecture will be "Magna Charta: Its Influence on Virginia and American Institutions," a subject on which he is especially fitted to speak.

Dr. Tyler resigned as President of

Chandler Member Educational Board

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, President of the College, was elected a member of the Virginia State Board of Education by the State Senate last week, over a field which was said to number five candidates, one of whom was up for reelection.

Dr. Chandler's election, while obviously a deserving one, is at the same time unique, for it makes the second time he has served as a member of the Board, the last time being when he was Superintendent of the Richmond Public Schools.

It is said that this is the first time in the history of the Board that a member has been elected twice, under different circumstances, although for the same reason.

Due to his progressive work in building up and strengthening the Richmond schools, he was elected a member, and now for his work at Wil-

MINSTREL SHOW

College and Town Talent Are to Stage Performance Soon for Benefit Monogram Club —Said to be Good

For the first time since Prof. Oscar Shewmake and others now on the faculty were here as students, college students are going to put on a first class minstrel show. The performance will be under the direction of an alumni, John A. Hundley, better known around town as "Jack."

Mr. Hundley has obtained much good local talent in addition to the college performers, including Winder Lane, Vernon Geddy, Jimmy Wyatt, and Carlisle Johnson. Among those from the college who are taking part are J. S. Lockaby, J. C. Phillips, Venable Jester, William Trevette, Professor Geo. B. Zehmer, Stuart Sorg, Litt H. Zehmer, Nat Watkins, Walter Schenck, and F. R. White. Miss Mary B. Zehmer has kindly consented to play for them, while Stanley Gay is in charge of the stage hands.

The show promises to be a good one with plenty of good singing and clean jokes. Mr. Hundley is putting his troupe through their stuff about three times a week, and according to his statements, the show should be ready for the public at Cameron Hall on the 23rd. He also intimated that the Jolly Jazzers would play for the show. If such should be the case it will lend a snappy air to the affair.

The show is very well balanced and anybody that likes to hear real music, both instrumental and vocal, as well as dancing, jokes, and other things that go to make a minstrel, should not miss this one.

The performance or performances will be for the benefit of the Monogram Club to purchase gold footballs, basketballs, and baseballs for members of the varsity teams. For that reason it is felt that the support of the students should be given the show.

JOHN STEWART BRYAN ESTABLISHES SCHOLARSHIP AT WILLIAM & MARY

Scholarship Established by a Prominent Richmond Man As Memorial To His Mother

Establishment of the Belle S. Bryan Scholarship at the College of William and Mary by John Stewart Bryan, of Richmond, Va., has been announced by President J. A. C. Chandler.

Mr. Bryan has given $2,000 to the college with which to establish the scholarship as a memorial to the services of his mother, Mrs. Joseph Bryan, to the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. Mrs. Bryan served the Association for more than a quarter of a century, first as secretary, and later as president.

The scholarship will be awarded on nomination of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities

Women's Colleges Meet In Richmond

(By Staff Correspondent)

Richmond, Va., Feb. 17.—The annual meeting of the Virginia Association of Women's Colleges and Schools was held at the Jefferson hotel, Richmond, Va., today with Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, President of William and Mary, and of the Association, presiding. Two sessions were held. Tomorrow the members of the Association of Women's Colleges and Schools will meet with the members of the Association of Virginia Colleges in joint session.

A very interesting and instructive program was given today, as follows:

MACE DELAYED

Announcement has been made by Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, President of the College, that the presentation of the Mace to William and Mary will not take place until Final Exercises in June. The firm manufacturing the Mace, Gorham & Co., of New York, will be unable to get the handsome and useful present completed before the last of May, and this fact occasioned the delay in the presentation.

Present Pictures To the College Library

Dr. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond, Va., has presented to the library of the College of William and Mary portraits of his great-grandfather, Judge Archibald Stuart, and of his grandfather, Hon. A. H. H. Stuart.

Judge Stuart was one of the men famous in the days of and following the Revolution. While at William and Mary he became one of the original members of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. He was prominent in all state affairs, being a gifted lawyer and an able judge.

Hon. A. H. H. Stuart was a student at William and Mary in 1824-25, and while at college was a friend of the Rogers Brothers. He became very

Manless Dance Was Glorious Affair

The event of the season in all the splendour and brilliance which it was due took place Saturday night in the gymnasium of Jefferson Hall—the Manless Dance. But you would have never known it. That is, if you hadn't lent your clothes out the day before. You never saw such perfect gentlemen. Cake-eater shoes and correct trouser lengths, $3.50 neckties, watch chains and frat pins, hair slicked down to an almost painful degree, plenty line, plenty pep, and plenty good dancing—they strutted it all to perfection. Who would have thought they had been wearing skirts and putting up their hair for twenty years, more or less?

There were about fifty couples on the floor, filling the gym but not crowding it. The stags kept busy, the orchestra inspired them to a million, and the girls were raving beauties and could dance as well as they raved. Slight interruptions—Virginia Isley had found something on the third floor, partaken freely, and induced other gentlemen to do the same, and kept the floor committee quite busy putting them out; brief intervals in which those "stuck" were allowed to change partners; pictures taken of the affair for the "Times"—all these heightened the excitement. The intermission was short, but sweet, each lady having brought refreshment for her now weary man. And at midnight, when "Home, Sweet Home" was played mournfully, more than ever were we convinced that "Clothes make the man."

Shewmake Working On Wythe Biography

Work of editing and gathering data for use in the publication of a biography of George Wythe is progressing at the College of William and Mary, according to Prof. Oscar L. Shewmake of the School of Government, who is directing the work, and writing most of the material which will be used in the book. Present plans call for the publication of one volume of about five hundred pages. It is thought that the book will fill a needed demand among Virginians and Americans, telling, as it does, of the life and work of one of the State's greatest, though not so widely heralded sons. The book will contain much hitherto unpublished data relating to other prominent men of that day who were connected with Wythe in some of his undertakings.

Wythe was at various times a student, member of the Board of Visitors, and Faculty of William and Mary, and it is thought particularly appropriate here that his biography should be prepared at the college with which he was so intimately connected throughout his long and useful life.

Chancellor Wythe, as he later came to be known, was born in 1726, and died in 1806, and exerted much influence on the State and Nation during the formative periods of the Virginia and Federal governments. A history of Wythe is a history of the State and nation in matters of government. He taught Jefferson and Monroe, Marshall, Edmund Randolph, and Bishop Madison; and as Professor of Law at William and Mary, was the first law professor in the United States. He was the first Judge to over-rule an act of Assembly, because unconstitutional. In 1776 he was on the Committee which revised the laws of the State. In 1789 he became sole Chancellor of the State. He was one of Virginia's delegates to the Convention which drew up the Constitution of the United States. His other services to the State were as a member of the House of Burgesses, author of the "Remonstrance to the House of Commons," adopted in 1764, speaker of the House of Delegates, member of Congress, first of Virginia's signers to the Declaration of Independence, and Chairman of the Committee of the Whole and offered the resolution in the Virginia Convention of 1788, which ratified the Constitution of the United States.

Any person, or persons, interested in the biography, and having any manuscripts or letters of Chancellor Wythe which would be useful in the work, are requested to send them to the Librarian, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Va.

Biological Clubs Hear Good Talks

The Clayton-Grimes Biology Club of William and Mary held its bi-weekly meeting last Monday night in the Biology lecture room, at which time a very interesting and instructive program was given by the members of the club. Tempting refreshments were served.

Ruth Harris presented a paper on "Problems in Evolution" in which she discussed two general problems—"How determining factors of an organism changed, and what share the mind has in evolution."

An interesting talk on the War Against Insects was delivered by Clyde Bedsaul. He explained the recent beginning of the fight, and explained that it was a battle of reason against instinct.

A talk by Muriel Valentine on "Nematodes" featured the evening's program. The nematode, she said, is found universally, but especially in the northern seas, where it is the basis of life.

Hereafter at the meetings of the club the lectures will be illustrated with lantern slides.

GET THAT SUIT NOW

W. W. Kite, special representative of the Haas Tailoring Company, expert tailors, of Baltimore, Md., will be at the college, in Room 6, Ewell, on February 24-25, with a complete line of new materials for Spring and summer clothes. Have your new suit made-to-measure!

ENROLLMENT INCREASES

Figures at the Registrar's office show that the enrollment of William and Mary since September has increased from 624 to 664, or an increase of forty for the second term, with a number who have not enrolled as yet, but are expected to do so in the near future.

ATTEND CONVENTION

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Rowe were the guests of the Theta Chi Fraternity at the Convention of the Virginia and North Carolina chapters, held at the Richmond hotel February 3-4. Dr. Rowe addressed the Convention on the last night, having as the subject of his speech, "The Reward of Self-Improvement."

WORK ON ECHO PROGRESSING

Work of the editors and business staff of the Colonial Echo has been going on merrily for the past few weeks. Practically all pictures for the annual, except the baseball and track pictures, are in the hands of the engravers. Much of the written material is being edited now before being sent to the printer.

It is believed that the annual this year will be one of the best and most complete gotten out by the students in a number of years.

Locals vs. Spiders Tomorrow Night

Battle Royal Expected At Westhampton Saturday Evening When Old Rivals Clash

Tomorrow night at Westhampton the Indian five will meet the Richmond University quint in the hardest battle on the court for either of the two teams this year. When the first game of the two-game series was played here on February 4, the Indians completely outclassed the Dobsonites, winning by the handsome margin of 26-13.

In the initial contest, however, the local aggregation had the advantage in playing on the home court before a home audience. Saturday night the Spiders will enjoy such an advantage.

Coach Driver will leave no stone unturned this week to have his proteges in shape for the encounter. "Tack" Cooke, diminutive right forward and captain, who did not participate in the Randolph-Macon game because of sickness, was given a complete rest in order that he might be in shape for the game. The other men on the squad were also given a two-day respite before settling down to the intensive grind in preparation for the conflict.

Richmond, to use their own words, "have been saying nothing, but sawing wood all the time," apparently meaning that they as well as the Indians worked overtime during the latter part of the week in order to be on edge for the conflict.

The contest is arousing considerable comment in the capital city, and it is probable that a record breaking audience will witness the battle, augmented by a number of William and Mary students.

The probable line-up for the affray will be:

W. & M.	Pos.	U. of R.
Cooke (C)	R. F.	Ziegler (C)
Pierce	L. F.	Fray
Harwood	C.	Carlton
Young	R. G.	Bethel
Hicks	L. G.	Allen

New Baseball Suits Have Been Ordered

When the William and Mary nine begins its hard schedule this year, the team will present a handsome appearance.

New uniforms, white with a blue pin stripe, have been ordered, and should be here for the first game. A white cap, of the same material, with an orange W. & M. on the front, and black stockings, with white ankle protectors, completes the new uniform. "William and Mary" will be across the front of the shirts this year, instead of the word "Indians" that has been used heretofore.

In addition to the uniforms, those making the nine will be given "uniform rolls," to be used in carrying the uniforms, and other equipment while on trips. This does away with the old practice of carrying the clothes in the same bag with the uniform, or the necessity of carrying two handbags, one for cit. clothes and the other for the baseball uniform.

A number of new bats have been received by the Athletic Director.

SELF-GOVERNMENT BASIS OF HISTORY

been developed unless the people of the "Mother Country" had enjoyed the rights of self-government, Wm. L. Marbury, prominent lawyer of Baltimore, declared today at the College of William and Mary in the course of a lecture on the "Birth of the English Constitution: Anglo-Saxon England." His address was the fourth in the series of constitutional lectures being delivered at the college under the auspices of the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship.

History shows that the countries which have maintained and developed certain institutions have enjoyed the blessings of liberty more than those who have no such traditions or institutions, the speaker stated. As illustrations he cited the right of trial by jury and the writ of habeas corpus.

Of all the institutions established in the State or Federal Governments of the United States essential to the preservation of order, liberty, and the preservation of civilization, the right of local self-government is the most essential, Mr. Marbury asserted. "So long as the people possess that right they stand in little danger of losing permanently any other right essential to their welfare or their liberty," he continued.

The English Constitution, on which the Constitution of this country is based in large part, was born when the "system of local self-government was established in England by our Saxon and Scandinavian ancestors in the early centuries of the Christian Era," Mr. Marbury declared. The local divisions of government are not divisions of the kingdom or the country, but the elements out of which the kingdom or the country must grow, he added.

The English Constitution was built upon local law making and enforcement, he stated, and its main features were the principles of liberty declared for by the English people in their Magna Charta.

Local self-government kept England alive to a spirit of freedom, Mr. Marbury asserted. Local self-government exists today in the United States as "State Rights," the speaker stated, and to Americans self-government is equally as important—or should be—as was local self-government to the English. The Roman Empire fell because of a too-highly centralized government, and Secretary of State Hughes has declared that if this had no states to exercise their rights, it would be necessary to create states, Mr. Marbury said.

Speaking of the Marshall-Wythe lectures, the aim of which is to revive interest in the study of the Constitution of this country, and to cultivate a desire for better knowledge and understanding of the document among the people, and through such knowledge to preserve it, the speaker said:

"I can conceive of no more worthy object, for it was declared by our forefathers in adopting the Constitution of the United States that their purpose in doing so was to secure the blessings of liberty to themselves and their posterity."

ARRANGING DEBATE

The Debate Council is now arranging a schedule with several of the colleges in the North for intercollegiate debates. Richmond University has also been added to the schedule.

Twenty men and fifteen women have stated that they would enter the preliminaries for the debating teams. This large number shows a tremendous increase in interest in intercollegiate debates.

PRACTICE HOUSE ENTERTAINS

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and its Advisory Board were entertained at the Practice House at its last regular meeting. Dr. Bennett, Mrs. Young, Dr. Williams, and Miss Taylor were the faculty members present.

"DUC" RULES AGAIN

Last week the Flat Hat, in a rather lengthy article, discussed the question of the violation of the "Duc" rules. Since that time our attention has been called to the fact that the rules themselves state that they exist and remain in effect only for one term, automatically expiring February 1.

To the extent of our statements regarding violations of the rules since February 1, the Flat Hat apologizes. But it still condemns the student body for the policy of laissez-faire that marked the practice of the students during the first term, when only negligible action was taken by the students in reporting the numerous offenders of the "Duc" rules while they were in force.

ATTENDANCE AT THE LECTURES

With a great deal of regret we have to admit some disappointment in the attendance of the students at the Marshall-Wythe Lectures. There have been a number of students at each of the addresses, but that number could be added to considerably before the chapel would be overcrowded. The fault, we believe, lies in the aversion of the students to taking front seats, on account of being compelled to pass those seated in the rear so comfortably. The baldhead row, according to student sentiment, is all right at the musical comedy, but not appropriate, the student thinks, for a lecture.

The lectures last, at the longest, but an hour. And every class we attend lasts that long. The subjects discussed in the lectures are too valuable to miss, especially so as to those of us who have the least desire for a knowledge of history, government, citizenship, Constitutional law and history, and politics. An hour spent each Saturday at the lectures is certainly worth the same hour spent in reading any class text on these subjects.

Tomorrow Dr. Tyler, President Emeritus of William and Mary, is the lecturer. He served the college as its administrative head for thirty-one years. The subject on which he is to lecture is an interesting and instructive one to every Virginian or American, who prides himself in his Anglo-Saxon heritage. The speaker is an authority, nationally recognized, on the subject on which he will lecture tomorrow. Let's be on hand tomorrow for Dr. Tyler's lecture; show him by our attendance and interest our thanks for his services to the institution; hear a subject dear to the hearts of red-blooded Americans and sons of the Old Dominion; and be instructed in a subject without a knowledge of which no one in this country can justly claim to know anything of American government.

For the second time—though under different circumstances—the State of Virginia, through its Senate, has made Dr. Chandler a member of the Virginia State Board of Education. We congratulate our President on his new office, and wish him the success there that has marked his work in other fields. Our congratulations are extended to the State also, that she has secured for her use an educator of note such as the President of William and Mary.

We wish the Monogram Club success in its undertaking in staging a Minstrel Show. Many years have passed since one was given at the college. There is no more worthy endeavor which the student body can support, than the aid in buying athletic insignia for members of the Indian teams. Of all the methods used, we believe that the giving of benefit shows is the most feasible, and will in the end prove the most satisfactory, although not the easiest way, of raising money for the use of the Club for the aforementioned purposes of the organization.

THE PSALM OF THE PROBATIONER

Dr. Jacob is my advisor, I shall not want.
He maketh me to study each night.
He leadeth me into the classroom.
He restoreth me in College, but putteth me upon Probation.
Yea, if I stay away from the pool-room, and the movies, I will fear no evil for he is with me.
His class and his lectures they discomfort me.
He maketh me a joke in the presence of mine enemies.
He filleth my head with study.
My mind runneth over.
Surely these restrictions shall taunt me all the days of my life, and I shall be on Probation for ever.

—DON O. HUGH.

OH, SHEIK!

The Dr. called in C. B. J.,
To give an explanation,
Just why a clock which runs at night,
To Charley bears relation?

The student humbly bowed his head,
The class-room roared in laughter,
As Dr. Young made clear the fact,
That clocks at night run faster.

—R. E. K.

COLES SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED HERE

Scholarship at the College of William and Mary by a gift of $2,000 from Miss Mary Roberts Coles and Mrs. George S. Robbins, of Philadelphia, has been announced by President J. A. C. Chandler.

Miss Coles and Mrs. Robbins have founded the scholarship as a memorial to their grandfather, an alumnus of William and Mary, who was governor of Illinois. Their donation adds another to the growing list of scholarships being established at Virginia's oldest college by descendants of the early Virginians who attended William and Mary, and who attained eminent rank in the Commonwealth and the Nation.

Edward Coles, who was born in 1786, in Albemarle County, served for six years as private secretary to James Madison, President of the United States. The possessor of a large plantation, he had a notable correspondence with Thomas Jefferson in 1814, regarding the emancipation of slaves, and was urged by Jefferson to take the lead in the cause of emancipation. Shortly afterwards, he went to Russia as a special envoy of President Madison. Later, he transferred all his slaves westward and set them free, unconditionally, on their arrival in Illinois, deeding to each adult slave of 24 years, 160 acres of land. After serving under President Monroe as Registrar of the Government Land Office in Edwardsville, Ill., Mr. Coles was elected, in 1822, Governor of the State of Illinois.

When his gubernatorial term was finished there, Governor Coles retired to his farm, where in 1831, he organized the first agricultural society in Illinois, soon afterward removing to Philadelphia, where he married Miss Sally Logan Roberts. He died in 1868. Governor Coles is regarded by Illinois people as one of the most outstanding and most courageous characters ever engaged in its political affairs. A noted painting of him is preserved in the Illinois capitol. His activities saved Illinois from becoming a slave state.

In a letter to President Chandler, enclosing a check for the scholarship, Miss Coles said that the interest of herself and her sister had been attracted to William and Mary through a communication of Fairfax Harrison, President of the Southern Railway, and Chairman of the Virginia Committee of the William and Mary Endowment Fund. She stated that four grandsons of Governor Coles are living—the sons of Mrs. Robbins.

the college July 1, 1919, and was succeeded by Dr. Chandler. The President Emeritus is at present living in Richmond, where he is publishing a number of historical documents, including Tyler's Quarterly Historical and Genealogical Magazine.

The speaker for tomorrow has many friends among the faculty, students, and townspeople, and it is probable that a large audience will be present to hear his lecture.

to either a young man or woman, provided such nomination is made before September 1, annually. Should the Association fail to make such nomination, the president of the college is authorized to make the appointment in behalf of some deserving Virginia student. The scholarship exempts the recipient from the payment of a number of the college fees.

Mr. Bryan is a member of the National Committee which is seeking, under the chairmanship of Rear Admiral Grayson, to raise an endowment fund for William and Mary. His gift adds another to the growing list of scholarships which have been established within recent months at the South's oldest college by Virginians whose ancestors studied at William and Mary. The new scholarship's donor, who is rector of the Board of Visitors of the University of Virginia, attended the installation ceremonies at William and Mary last October, as the delegate of the Society of the Cincinnati. The connection of Mr. Bryan's family with William and Mary is a distinguished one. Judge St. George Tucker, who succeeded George Wythe as Professor of law at William and Mary, was the grandfather of Mr. Bryan's grandmother, Elizabeth Tucker Coalter. Judge Tucker's edition of Blackstone is an American classic. His lectures were a notable feature of the legal education of his day.

Pictures at the Palace Next Week

SHOWS AT 4, 7, 8:30 P. M.

Is it possible for a husband to become bored with a wife who permits his doing just as he pleases? Yes—if she insists upon doing it with him!

That is the interesting situation depicted in the Realart comedy, "Too Much Wife," which has Wanda Hawley as the star and will show here Monday at the Palace Theatre.

TUESDAY

"The Fall of Babylon" is the title of the new D. W. Griffith production that again brings this dramatic genius to the fore as the peer of all producers of mammoth spectacles. Those who have been privileged to see Mr. Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation," and "Hearts of the World," will welcome the announcement that "The Fall of Babylon" will be shown at the Palace Theatre Tuesday.

One of the largest and most notable companies ever assembled by Mr. Griffith will enact the principal parts, the foremost players including Constance Talmadge, Tully Marshall, George Fawcett, Mildred Harris, Pauline Stark, Seena Owen, Alma Rubens, Kate Bruce, Alfred Paget, Elmo Lincoln and Ruth Darling. More than 125,000 men and women appear in the spectacle.

WEDNESDAY

"The Furnace," the new William D.

Taylor production released as a Realart Special, is an unusually powerful photodrama. The picture, which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Wednesday night, is a big production in many senses of the word.

The theme is striking, the action and plot gripping and well portrayed by an all-star cast of notables, including such popular favorites as Agnes Ayres, Jerome Patrick, Theodore Roberts, Helen Dunbar, Betty Francisco, Milton Sills, Mayme Kelso and others.

THURSDAY

"Miss Lulu Bett," Zona Gale's prize play based upon her own novel, which was produced with big success on Broadway in 1920, has been picturized for Paramount by William de Mille and it will be the feature at the Palace Theatre next Thursday. Clara Berranger adapted the play and novel for the screen. The title role is played by Lois Wilson and others in the cast include Milton Sills, Theodore Roberts, Helen Ferguson, Mabel Van Buren, May Giracci and Clarence Burton.

FRIDAY

Tim, the big wolf-dog who plays the part of "Kazan" in the screen version of James Oliver Curwood's gripping story of the same name, is a real "killer" of the great north country.

SATURDAY

There are many real Indians in Jack Holt's first Paramount star picture, "The Call of the North," which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday, but most of them are Piutes, gathered on location at Mammoth Mountain in Northern California. There are in the cast two real Redskins, however, of special interest—Chief Lightheart and Big Tree.
